There are several items with the same sub-list (e.g. there is a sub-list with 5 items in it): Lorem Ipsum Sub-Item 1 Sub-Item 2 Sub-Item 3 Sub-Item 4 Sub-Item 5 Lorem Ipsum Sub-Item 1 Sub-Item 2 Sub-Item 3 Sub-Item 4 Sub-Item 5 Here the sub-items are the only difference between the items in the list. The length of the sub-lists is random. What would be the best way to sort this ListView based on the length of the sub-items? In my case the sum should be calculated for each item. A: The correct way is to have a converter that has access to the list and returns a number. I would guess that is the simplest way. 1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a semiconductor device and a method of manufacturing the semiconductor device. 2. Description of the Related Art A conventionally known approach for reducing a spread of a p-type diffusion layer in an SOI (Silicon On Insulator) semiconductor device in which an SOI substrate is employed and which implements a CMOS (Complementary Metal Oxide Semiconductor) is to add a large amount of B (boron) to the p-type diffusion layer (Japanese Patent Laid-open No. 2001-43550). A large amount of impurity ions are implanted in the direction parallel with the SOI substrate surface. This approach intends to make the p-type diffusion layer as deep as possible and to dope ions in a predetermined depth of the e24f408de9
