So, the world has changed since 2007. Europe has a different feel than before and the balance of power is different. The power of the US and Russia have changed. And with the benefit of the military resources from the USA, Russia has taken the lead on the political and economic front - the long lever of influence over the European continent! The old countries have new borders and new powers. The new countries have torn Europe apart and are not prepared for the fight for independence. It's up to you to change this balance. The European Union is the best chance for peace, for the reconciliation of the different European factions. Your decisions will have consequences... General features:

- 18 gauge.
- The first session is the shortest in the game.
- 4 routes, each with a length of 80 km or more.
- The shortest route has about 30% more sections than the longest route.
- The routes end in the same place.
- Almost all the stations on the routes are close to larger towns, through which they have direct access to the routes.
- For instance, the route from Bucharest to St. Petersburg runs through the Romanian and Bulgarian cities of Iasi and Sofia.
- This is the first game of the "EUROPE" series.
- All the features available in the first version of "EUROPE: The game of the partitions" are back
- Version 1.02 adds the new couplings; in addition you'll find that the Union of the People is in charge of Greece, Italy and Spain. The game has 2 levels: 1) the scenario level. You can change the start date, the EU member states and their power level. You can play the scenario as many times as you like. You can increase your own country's strength or weaken the others. In this way you can lead it to the North, South, East or West. 2) the game level. You can play the game as many times as you like. You can play the game with one, two or all the EU members. You can also replay all the scenarios any number of times. The game can be played from two sides: 1) in the daily events: The various events happen as the game progresses, and you can participate in them. 2) in the scenario editor: You can create your own scenarios from scratch to play with friends. The variations will be greater the more scenarios you
